The Daily Courant.

Monday, May 31. 1708.

London, May 31.

On Saturday arriv'd from Holland the Mail of Tuesday last.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 5.

'TIS advis'd from Italy, that the Generals Stanhope and Tettenbach went on board an English Man of War, at Genoa the 16th of May, and sail'd the same Day for Barcelona: That they took with them a considerable Sum in Gold and Silver: That they had also caus'd a great Quantity of Corn and other Stores to be embark'd for the Service of King Charles: That the New Reinforcements design'd to be sent to that King, waited only for the Arrival of Admiral Leake at Genoa, to imbark forthwith: and That in the mean time 500 Horse of those Succours were going to be Shipp'd off.

From the Amsterdam Courant, June 5.

Vinna, May 23. Yesterday the Baggage of Prince Eugene of Savoy set forward for Coblentz. Count Schlick will be going this Week. And the Prince himself towards the End of this Month. To Day M. Burchard set out from hence for Francfort, with Order from Prince Eugene of Savoy to assure the Elector of Hanover that he will be with his Electoral Highness by the 3d of June.

From the Antwerp Courant June 5.

Metz, May 24. Yesterday the Spanish, Bavarian and other Troops, which to the Number of 9 or 10000 Men were detach'd from the Netherlands, arriv'd in the Neighbourhood of this City; and this Morning proceeded on for Strasbourg. All the Garrisons along the Sarr and the Moselle are to draw out the 28th and march towards Sirk and Thionville, there to encamp.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 5.

Francfort, May 30. Our last Advices from Strasbourg import, that the Elector of Bavaria had receiv'd from the Court of France a Remittance of 800000 Livres, for the Execution of his Projects: That the Troops which his Electoral Highness expected from the Franche-Comte and Flanders, had begun to arrive in Alsace: That General Vivans continued near Offenbourg, with about 5 Regiments of French Horse, with which he had passed the Rhine at Fort Kehl: Which has oblig'd General Thungen to send 7 Regiments towards the Black Forrest, to observe those 5 Regiments of the Enemy.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 5.

An Extract of a Letter from the Lower Rhine, dated June 1. Two Regiments of Horse and one of Dragoons of the Troops of Hesse Cassel, making 1500 Men, pass'd this River at Coblentz the 29th past, in their Way to the Camp mark'd out for them near Guntersheym and Godert on the Hondsruck; where are expected the Saxons, Imperialists, and other Troops that are to form the Army of Prince Eugene. 'Tis computed that Army will be compos'd of 25000 Men, and that of the Elector of Hanover of 30000. Stores of Ammunition and Provisions are continually brought to Coblentz for the service of the first mention'd Army. The Magistrates of Cologne are to furnish to that Army on the Moselle several Pieces of heavy Cannon, with some Gunners, and Stores of Ammunition: And the Electorate of Cologne is to furnish several Hundred Waggons

From the Amsterdam Courant dated June 5.

Hanover, June 1. The 30th of May the Elector of Hanover set out from hence for Cassel; where he designs to stay two Days, and then proceed to the Army on the Upper Rhine. Duke Ernestus Augustus his Electoral Highness's Brother is gone with him.

From the Paris Gazette, dated June 2

Brussels, May 25. The 21st of this Month the Troops of the Allies began to draw into a Body, with their Left at Anderlecht, and their Right at Tonberg. The 22d the Garrison of this City march'd out to the Camp, except one Battallion which remain'd behind. There will likewise continue but one Battallion in Louvain and another in Mechlen; the rest of the Garrisons being drawn out to augment the Army. This Disposition, which would leave these Places without Defence should the Army move to any great Distance, has oblig'd the Councils of State and of the Treasury, and the Chamber of Accompts with all their Books, Papers, Records, and Effects, to retire to Antwerp, together with the Ministers and Officers of the Archduke and several Others. The Dutch Factors who came to reside here for carrying on Trade, have sent away their Goods and Effects. By Order of the Generals the most valuable Furniture of the Palace of this City has been carry'd off, at which the People are much dissatisfi'd.

Paris, June 2. The Duke of Burgundy and the Duke of Berry arriv'd the 24th of last Month at Estines near Binche, where the Duke of Vendome was drawing the Army together. The 26th the Duke of Burgundy march'd with the Army, and encamp'd with the Right at Nafte, the Left at Neuville, and Soignies before the Centre. The same Day the Enemy encamp'd with their Left at Halle, and their Right beyond Bellinghen, having Woods and Defiles before them.

From the Brussels Gazette, dated June 5.

Brussels, June 5. The Army of the Enemy march'd from Soignies the 1st Instant at Night, and encamp'd between Mount St. Jean and Genap along the Causeway of Namur; the Princes took up their Quarters in the Castle of Braine-la-Leu, and the 3d at Night in the King's House on the same Causeway on this Side of Genap. The Army under the Duke of Marlborough march'd the 2d in the Morning from St. Renelde, and encamp'd at Anderlecht. The 3d they pass'd the Canal of this City over several Bridges laid for that Purpose, march'd towards Louvain, and possess'd themselves of the Posts which the Enemy design'd to take.

From the Camp at Terbank, June 4. The Night between the 1st and 2d Instant, at 10 a Clock, the Enemy's Army broke up from Soignies; Intelligence being brought to the Duke of Marlborough, he gave Order for the Army to get in a readiness to break up from St. Renelde; and accordingly the 2d about Noon, when our Horse were come back from Foraging, we March'd, and came to the Camp of Anderlecht. There my Lord Duke had further Advice that the Enemy proceeded on their March towards Genap: Whereupon his Grace order'd the Army to pass the Canal of Brussels and to continue their March towards Louvain. We march'd accordingly the same Night, and the 3d came to this Camp. The Enemy are encamp'd near Genap.

From

From the Paris Letter June 1. and Ant. Cour. June 5.

Paris, June 1. Letters from Perpignan of the 18th of May confirm the March of the Duke de Noailles into the Lampourdan in Order to enter Catalonia: But the Enemy being encamp'd under the Walls of Girone, with 4000 Foot and 2000 Horſe, 'tis much doubted whether he will attack that City. Theſe Letters add, that a conſiderable Quantity of Ammunition and Proviſions was arriv'd in the Port of Cete, and that 24 heavy Cannon with Ammunition neceſſary were ſent to Roſes from Collioure. Some Eccleſiaſticks have been Seiz'd at Puycerda, for endeavouring to incite the People to a Revolt; as is likewiſe the Parſon of a Village who aſſiſted Deſerters in making their Eſcape: They are all carry'd to Perpignan, and Orders are expected there from Court for trying them before the proper Judges. We have had no News from the Duke of Orleans theſe 8 Days. The King is at preſent at Marli, whence they write, that the Elector of Bavaria on his Arrival at the Army in Alſace, detach'd 30 Battalions and as many Squadrons to the Moſelle, under the Command of the Marquis de St. Fremond Lieutenant-General, to joyn the Neighbouring Garriſons and make head againſt the Allies on that River; that his Electoral Highneſs waited for other Troops to ſupply the Room of this Detachment; and that till their Arrival 'tis not likely he ſhould be in a Condition to attempt any thing againſt the Enemy: When he has receiv'd the Reinforcements he expects, 'tis pretended he will have an Army of 45000 Men. The 27th paſt, being Whitſunday, the King held a Chappel of the Order of Knighthood of the Holy Ghoſt, and nominated the Cardinal de la Trimouille to one of the vacant Places of Commandeur of the Order. 'Tis ſaid the Biſhop of Strasbourg would have been nominated in this Chapter to another like Vacancy, were he of the Age requir'd by the Statutes of the Order. The 28th the King Sign'd an Edict for ſuppreſſing the Office of Super-Intendant of his Buildings, and at the ſame time his Majeſty created an Office of Inſpector-General, who is to exerciſe the former Employment and have a Salary of 16000 Livres a Year, but that Inſpector is not yet nam'd. The 30th the Marſhal de Villars ſet out from hence for his Seat at Villars, whence he will go Poſt to Morrow for the Army in Dauphine.
